Two-Story facade restoration/two-story addition

This 2-story, former Chicago Park District Garage had its limestone, terra cotta and brick facade documented and disassembled. After the foundation and structure for a new 4-story buildings was substantially in place the historic, 1924 facade was reapplied to the new building. Document review and construction supervision were part of the facade architect/engineer services we provided in the restoration of this landmark.

This project took advantage of the experience George A. Kennedy & Associates, Ltd. has in both new construction and historic facade restoration. By understanding cost, schedule, technical and aesthetical elements of historic renovations and new projects, the company was able to provide insight and advice that is contributing to the on time delivery of a project that is challenging, but is highly valuable to maintaining the historic fabric of Chicago's Lakeview community.
